

Agnes Furst, M.D. - Bio

I'm a self-motivated professional with 25+ years of experience as an organizational development/instructional design consultant and facilitator, with a track record of producing extraordinary results internationally for multinational corporations.

I have a background in medicine, healthcare and the pharmaceutical industry. I'm known for analyzing problems, developing and simplifying procedures, and finding innovative solutions. I have the ability to motivate and work effectively with people from other cultures and all walks of life. I'm used to working with limited resources, in a rapidly changing environment.

I'm always responsive, handling my tasks with a sense of urgency. I'm committed to excellence and to making a difference in my clients' lives.
